the Shepherds happily expressed; and the Countenance of the Virgin well conceived, and delightfully executed; truly expressive of maternal Regard, mingled with Sentiments of Respect and Admiration.*

LOT

- W. VAN DE VELDE . 54 A Storm, with Ships in Distress.—A grand and awful Scene: Painted with all that Ability, for which this great Sea Painter was so renowned; and whose Pencil has, in this Instance, depicted with so much Fidelity the terrific Features of the disturbed and agitated Ocean in its wildest Forms, forced into Motion by the resistless Fury of contending Winds.—CAPITAL.
- BACKHUYSEN . 55 The Companion. A brisk Gale in the Texel, with the View of Amsterdam: Dutch Man of War under easy Sail, the State Yacht, Sloops, and various Boats enlivening the Scene.—An animating Performance, beautifully contrasted with the preceding Lot: Painted with the same Truth, Spirit and Propriety, and equally capital.
